We Hear You

Any gripes, kudos, or ideas? Call 378-9136 to sound off.

I'm calling about the damage done to (John D. Morgan) park when the police were chasing the coyote. Unless that animal was rabid, and I didn't read anything about any such suspicions, it was the coyote that needed the protection, not the school kids. Coyotes are usually very shy and it's quite unlikely one would have caused the youngsters any harm. By the way, was it ever captured?

A Reader

Editor's note: At last report the creature was believed to have escaped along the nearby canal.

I'm sympathetic with the downtown businessmen who say they're losing business. And I think it will get worse when the other loop street opens. At least now people see the stores, even if they don't stop like they used to.

Long Time Resident

When I saw that story about the downtown people crying over the one-way traffic it made me want to throw up. I'm also a businessman and I think maybe some of those people who are doing the complaining ought to close up. It would be better for the city.

Quit Your Gripping

About the business people who say they may have to close up: I say you can't please everybody. The loop streets were voted in by the people because they recognized the serious traffic bottleneck throughout the downtown area. Now, at least, traffic is moving. So what do they complain about? That traffic is moving too fast! It beats me.

Campbell Voter

That was a heartwarming story about the man whose life was saved by our paramedics last week but I have a question. The story says he lived in San Jose. Was he visiting here?

Curious

Editor's note: No. His residence is now being served by the Campbell fire department through the auto aid agreement between the San Jose and Campbell departments. Talks have been underlway for some time now over a change in that agreement. While no final decision has been reached yet, it's clear that in the future those San Jose areas (with one small exception) will no longer be covered by Campbell's paramedic service.

Taking the fright out of 'back to college'

If you've been putting off going back to college because you're not sure if you can make it, a West Valley College program may be just what you need.

The Re-Entry Program (REP) at West Valley is planning an open house this Tuesday, Jan. 11, to let residents know what services and programs are available.

REP was designed to help students returning to the academic life over the first hurdles.

The open house will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. that morning in the Saratoga campus center. Counselors will be available and financial aid, tutoring, child care and career counseling will be discussed.

For more information call 867-2200.

Raindrops ushered in the new year

Last Week's rains dumped a total of 2 inches of water on Campbell, bringing our season total to date to 4.88 inches. Many people, like Leo Wolf, got reacquainted with umbrellas they hadn't seen in months. Bob James of the Campbell Water Company is holding fast ot his prediction that we'll register a normal rainfall before the season ends in July. That means we'll have to chalk up another 11 inches in the next six months.

Cable rate hike issue reopened

The "emergency request" by Gill Cable TV for a temporary $2 monthly rate increase was due before San Jose city councilmen Tuesday night. And, if that rate hike is approved, Campbell is expected to hear a similar request at the Jan. 10 council session.

Earlier, both cities opted to delay any decision on the request to hike rates from $8.95 to $10.95 monthly until after an independent audit, paid for by San Jose, is completed.

However, last week the cable company said the delay has placed the company in financial jeopardy and the $2 was needed, "to forestall a situation that could mean bankruptcy for cable television in San Jose."

Peter Mobley, vice president of finance for Gill, said that the postponement caused problems with the renewal of loan agreements with the firm's lenders.

If granted, the increase would be effective through June 30, 1977.

Opposition to the increase from subscribers has been strong, since announcement of the proposed hike. Gill obtained a rate increase in January of last year to finance their G movie channel and to pay increasing operating costs.

$25,000 price tag

No decision on changing Campbell ave.

A proposal to change downtown Campbell avenue back into a two-way street comes back before city officials at the Monday, Jan. 10 council session. Earlier, a spokesman for owners declared business had dropped off as much as 75 per cent for some shops since the new traffic pattern went into effect.

Last week Public Works Director Joe Elliott reported to the Council it would cost approximately $25,000 to make the change over. He also reported that there would be a substantial increase in the number of traffic accidents if they change over was approved.

In the last three years traffic along downtown Campbell avenue has increased close to 300 per cent, Elliott added.

An official tally in 1973 showed 6,000 cars per day, Elliott reported, compared to 15,000 counted in December of 1976.

Last Tuesday morning a meeting was scheduled between business owners and city staffers to try and come up with a solution to the problem.

Owners contend that, with cars traveling at a much faster rate of speed now, there's not much opportunity for motorists to stop and shop downtown.

Sunny is doggone good at math

Flash cards are a piece of cake for Sunny, the dog that can count. Last week she barked eight times to show she knows the score. For the story about the amazing talking and counting dog see page 3 of today's paper.

Housing project will go back to planners

The question of "discrimination" in a senior citizen housing complex planned for Budd avenue, didn't get settled last week at the City Council session.

The project will be going back to the Planning Commission for review. The Commission requested they get to rehear the application from Corinthian House, Inc. for a large tree-lined parcel located near the Budd-San Tomas expressway intersection.

Earlier, Councilman Rusty Hammer and City Attorney Bob Dempster disagreed over the city's proper role in that project.

Hammer contends that the project is discriminatory since they limit tenants to members of the Christian Science faith and prohibit handicapped individuals.

Dempster advised the Council they should stay out of that area and that, such questions, are up to the owners and tenants.

The Commission is expected to discuss the issue at their Tuesday, Jan. 18 meeting.

Telegram brings good news for city

THE NATURAL beauty of Los Gatos Creek will be preserved in the $250,000 improvement project that recently got official okay from the state. A wildlife observation platform and screening from Highway 17 is planned, along with new foot paths to the creekbank for anglers and other park-goers.

Park plan gets the funding

By PAT SAFFORD

SOMETIME THIS week Campbell city officials will be receiving a telegram from Governor Edmund Brown. But they've already gotten the good news verbally.

Last week, after an inspection team visited Campbell, the city learned that a federal grant totaling $129,979 in matching funds has been approved to complete Phase II of the Los Gatos Park Development. With the city and county each putting up $64,989 this brings the total to just over a quarter of a million dollars for creekside improvements.

A SPOKESMAN for the Governor's office confirmed the grant through the state land and water conservation program Monday and said the official notice from Brown would be coming out sometime this week.

Included in the project expected to begin late this spring, or early summer, is construction of an observation tower and pedestrian bridge, new walkways with benches, a 15-station exercise course on both sides of the Creek and additional landscaping and construction of bicycle paths.

While Campbell is the lead agency in the project, and will oversee the park improvements, the venture is a joint effort of the county, city and Santa Clara Valley Water District.

Planning for the project for federal matching funds was submitted last December.

ACCORDING TO Terry Ellis, city administrative assistant; two weeks ago representatives of the state parks and recreation department and federal bureau of outdoor recreation visited the city to get a first hand look at the creekside park.

"They were generally impressed," Ellis said, "They also took a lot of pictures."

When completed the Los Gatos Creek Park will help tie into the bicycle trails at Oka lane to the south. Eventually, parkgoers will be able to enjoy a recreation area that stretches from the Campbell avenue creek crossing to Vasona.

Several items originally included in Phase II plans had to be dropped before the application was submitted. This was the model boat ramp and fishing pier.

According to Ellis, the city was told these projects should be deleted from the application since the state does not fund any improvements depending on the level of water. "Something the city and county have no control over," Ellis explained. Plans for these additions have not been shelved permanently though, Ellis added. But funding will have to come from another source.

THE CREEK PROJECT is receiving federal funding through federal legislation enacted in 1965 to assist states and local jurisdictions acquire and develop recreational areas and facilities.

And the $129,979 federal portion of funds will be coming from the sale of surplus federal property, a special marine fuel tax and from sale of entrance permits and users fees at federal outdoor recreation areas. A later amendment included funds from oil revenues from the Outer Continental Shelf Act too.

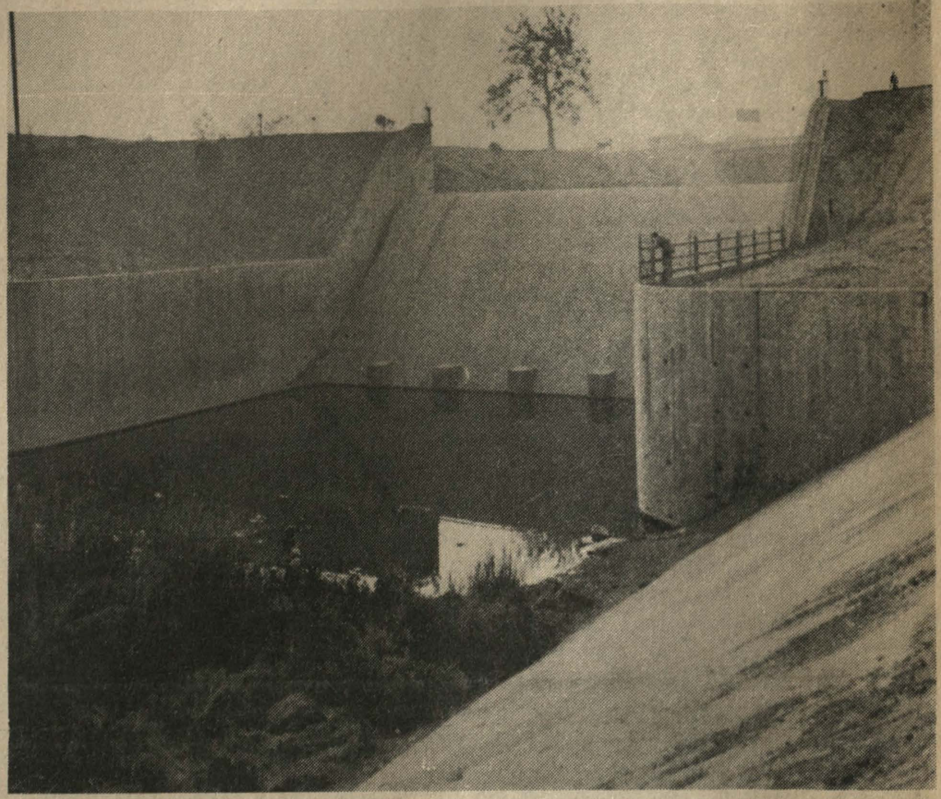
In their application, which totaled over 50 pages with supplemental information, the city spelled out the purpose of this new regional park:

"The objective of the proposed project is to provide additional recreational and open space use for an existing dense urban population. The project will offer the rare opportunity to provide such recreational activities as hiking, wildlife observation, etc. in an area located centrally in a heavily urbanized area. Perhaps the principal objective to this effect is to provide a large scope of recreational facilities and public recreation for present and future generations in an area characterized by intense urbanization and lack of open space recreational resources."

SPECIFICS OF THE project and cost breakdown include:

- Construction of bicycle paths and access to pathways and trail protection at Los Gatos Creek and Campbell avenue ($7,200).
- A 15-station exercise course on both sides of Los Gatos Creek between Campbell and Camden avenues ($11,500).
- Connection and improvement of pedestrian access across Los Gatos Creek adjacent to the existing bridge at Camden avenue and San Tomas expressway ($17,000).
- Improvement of the county park area including new irrigation systems, landscape planting, turf preparation and planting and pathway improvement ($81,300).
- Construction of walkway with benches, landscaping and protection structures adjacent to the northerly bank of the northerly percolation pond ($32,900).
- Planting of landscape on the easterly side of the creek south of the expressway to screen out visual impact from the freeway ($11,200).
- Construction of an observation tower and pedestrian bridge at the Curtner drop structure ($44,200).
- Improvement of bicycle paths adjacent to Oka lane on the west side through the limits of the project extending from the south side of the existing bike trail ($9,500).

The balance of the project is engineering and inspection costs and a $21,480 contingency fund.



CONCRETE structures at the Camden ave. creek crossing have been nicknamed "Campbell's Suez Canal," by those who favor more greenery. And these critics should be happy with plans for Los Gatos Creek Park, Phase II, which call for making the area a wildlife habitat.

WOOFING out the right answer last week was Sunny, who'll be making a public appearance at the Campbell Library this Tuesday, Jan. 11 at 4 p.m.

THE SMART pooch is 65 pounds of watchdog for the Todd family. Originally their daughter Peggy's dog, Sunny stayed at the family home when Peggy grew up and moved away and now keeps busy doing chores around the house . . . and working out square root problems.

SUNNY'S not biting the hand that feeds him cheese snacks. He's yawning after a long math problem. Last summer Sunny went on vacation with the family and disappeared for two hours. Later, owner Jim Todd found he'd been entertaining a group of vacationing college students who were testing his math prowess.

Sunny: The counting dog

Woofing his way to canine fame

By PAT SAFFORD

SUNNY, AN EIGHT-YEAR-OLD purebred male Dalmation likes to chase cats, is color blind, hates to be patted on the head and finds Campbell's street trees and fire hydrants fascinating.

Not too unusual for a dog. But this dog told me so himself.

Last week, in one of the most unusual interviews I've conducted, the agreeable pooch worked out math problems, "read" flash cards and answered my questions.

"Sunny, The Dog That Can Count," will be appearing at the Campbell Library this Tuesday afternoon and, since I was told he also "talks," I decided to give the interview a whirl.

AND I WAS FULLY prepared for a bag of tricks and signals between Sunny and owner Jim Todd when the interview began. Especially since Todd had requested that all questions be submitted in writing, in advance.

But, after an hour during which I witnessed Sunny work out many problems, and bark his "yes" and "no" answers to questions (and closely observed Todd), I could discern no trickery. By the way, yes is three barks, no is two.

According to Todd, Sunny has been counting and "talking" most of his eight years. "I took advantage of his natural desire to please," Todd says of the dog's training. After a couple of years, Sunny had some simple math problems down pat but the quantum leap into multiplication and square and cube root was quite by accident, Todd says.

HE AND SUNNY were appearing before a school group when the principal asked if Sunny could work out a more difficult problem, the man related. "Why don't you try him?," Todd responded. To the query, "What is 2 times 2 plus 2," Sunny barked six times. Todd says he was just as surprised as the school administrator.

Since then, Todd's taught Sunny much more and the dog will work using either flash cards or verbal questions. By lining up three or four flash cards bearing numbers, and asking Sunny to total them, Todd usually gets the right answer.

"And Sunny has a double problem here," Todd explained as the large black and white dog woofed out the answers. "He not only has to get the right answer, he has to also remember how many he's counted."

To keep things from getting too complicated (and also to keep the answers within a reasonable time) most of the problems posed to Sunny have an answer that totals 12 (barks) or less.

"MOST PEOPLE THINK it's a trick," acknowledged Todd. "But that's not true. I really think that 90 per cent of it is mind reading."

To illustrate, Todd picked up a flash card, showed it to me, and asked Sunny what number we were thinking of. It was a hand-lettered "5." Sunny promptly barked six times. "That's one too many," Todd retorted, "try it again." After two more tries, Sunny got it right and was rewarded with a piece of cheese, his favorite food.

"I know he knows the answers," Sunny's owner explained. "But I never know how he's going to act in front of a group." At home, he added, Sunny's average on correct answers is 100 per cent.

TO THE INTERVIEW questions, Sunny responded immediately. (I think he'd heard them before). His yes and no answers included the fact that he likes cats (but loves to chase them), is color blind, thinks pedigrees are important (he's got one) and favors leash laws.

"Come on," I interjected, "I think you're coaching him. What dog would approve of leash laws?" Todd explained that Sunny favors leashes for other dogs, not himself. "Sunny doesn't need any laws," the man said. "He never leaves his front yard."

In Todd's San Jose neighborhood, Sunny is well known to local kids who take it for granted the dog can tell them the square root of 81 or the answer to 3 times 3 plus 1. But the Ripley's Believe It Or Not people in San Francisco think it's pretty special. In fact, they're now preparing an article for one of their syndicated columns about Sunny.

At home the Dalmation is treated "like a people" and is expected to share the work load. He brings in his own dog dish, for instance, calls "Mother" for breakfast, and will fetch anything he's told to. He'll also close the back gate after himself . . . most of the time.

THE ONE FLAW in Sunny's outstanding character is that he's not above a fib now and then. Todd says sometimes he'll ask Sunny if he's closed the back gate and Through town in a flash!

THE NEW smooth flow of traffic through downtown Campbell was one of the main purposes of the new loop streets. But some business owners aren't happy with the new state of affairs. They say traffic is now going by so fast, no one stops to shop anymore. At a recent council session one business owner had a novel suggestion. Why not make the street one-way going in the other direction, she suggested. That way downtown people would have a chance to catch the motorist's eye before they spent all their money at the PruneYard.

(Photography by Jim Byous)

I don't think Campbell ought to be getting mixed up in the ambulance business (a suggestion in an earlier We Hear You column). The way things are going it won't be long before the whole county will have to combine police and fire service to get the job done. And I don't see how the county could run its own ambulance service. If people feel that ambulance costs are too high, and I agree, maybe the way to fight that is to quit giving these franchises to companies. Maybe if they had a little competition for business they'd lower their rates.

I've been hearing about that new schools group (the Campbell Schools Community Caucus) and understand that their membership is secret. Is it true?

Editor's note: According to one spokesman for the group, they're not a secret organization and membership is open. They do not, however, release any membership lists.

You used to have colored pictures in the paper every week and then you quit. What happened? I liked them.

Young Reader

Editor's note: The duo-tone prints which ran on the front page will be back again. The main problem is getting pictures that look good in color. For instance, we can't run a green picture with people in it too well. It gives their faces a ghastly look. Color pictures look best when they're of landscapes and of non-human subjects.

Report due

Parking district may go out to bid Monday

Councilmen are expected to call for bids on the downtown off-street parking district at their Monday, Jan. 10 meeting. The session starts at 7 p.m. in City Hall, 75 N. Central ave. with interviews scheduled for applicants to the Civic Improvement Commission.

At 8 p.m. the regular session begins and on the agenda is the long-awaited engineer's report on the parking district that will include cost estimates and plans and specifications for the project.

If plans move along as scheduled, the public hearings and awarding of bids on the project will take place at the first council session in February.

Earlier, downtown property owners gave their okay for formation of the parking district. A major stumbling block in organizing the district was cost. But, through negotiations between owners and city staffers, original estimates of about 9 cents per square foot (of business space) was pared down to about 5 cents.

At the formal hearing on the district property owners who oppose the project can lodge official protests. However, under law, the Council could still vote to override those protests and go ahead with the district.

Also on the agenda Monday is:

- A public hearing on two new ordinances. The first would limit the number of arcades in the city to three. The second, an emergency ordinance that would take effect immediately, would ban commercial trucks and trailers over 10,000 pounds to remain on city streets (except in industrial areas) between the hours of 2 and 6 a.m. The new ordinance is required to comply with a state law which went into effect Jan. 1.
- A report on Title II federal public works funds. The city is expected to receive about $22,000 under this part of the anti-recession bill to be used for on-going public works projects.
- A special presentation by Bicentennial Chairman Phyllis Hofer.

Letters

A chance to save space

EDITOR:

All residents of the Santa Clara Valley can be grateful that the county's LAFCo promptly beat over the head the ill-advised and incredibly selfish attempt by my town's circus council to duck out of the important Mid-Peninsula Regional Park District.

Now, another challenge has arisen in the battle to preserve our open space, this time, one which must be met with private rather than public action.

Today, the Sempervirens Fund, a nonprofit conservation with more than 5,000 members which, since 1900, has purchased thousands of acres of park land for Big Basin and Castle Rock state parks, has a problem. It must raise $65,000 by Jan. 10, in order to gain title to Mountain Shadows Ranch, a 730 acre parcel near Castle Rock. As you drive down Highway 9 to Big Basin you have no doubt admired the impressive mountain terrain of this beautiful ranch. But, if Sempervirens Fund is unable to secure the property, it will be placed on the open market for development and we, the public, can kiss off another expanse of open space and mountain vistas to logging and subdivision.

The Fund needs many donations, large and small, to raise the $65,000 in time. Contributions should be sent to Sempervirens Fund, P. O. Box 1141, Los Altos, California 94022.

the dog will bark out "yes." Then later Todd will find out Sunny was telling a tall tale (such behavior is greeted with a short lecture).

At the Todd home, the last one in the house is expected to close the back gate and just before Sunny and Todd visited the PRESS office they went through the usual routine. "I asked Sunny if he'd closed the gate and he said 'no'," Todd related. "So I told him to go close it." A few minutes later Sunny was back and this time answered 'yes' to the question. Who knows, maybe lectures do work . . . on canines anyway.

Sunny also answers one of Todd's most common questions wrong. When asked if Todd is a dog, Sunny barks out 'yes.' "I think he does it deliberately," Todd declared.

The San Jose man would like to find a dog psychologist to test Sunny. "I think the right person could teach him anything," Todd said. "And I really want to find out how much he could learn. I'm not an animal trainer."

Sunny evidently can figure some things out for himself. Shortly before the interview ended, the dog was getting restless and was finally told he could leave my office. After a short pause to get his bearings, Sunny made a beeline . . . for the men's room.

Housing agency has one idea

Prime downtown land going for sale to highest bidder

The old grammar school property, 7.8-acres of prime downtown land, will be going up for sale to the highest bidder soon, a spokesman for the Campbell Elementary School District said Monday.

Assistant Superintendent-Business Jack Salsbury said trustees are scheduled to put the land up for sale at their January 27 meeting.

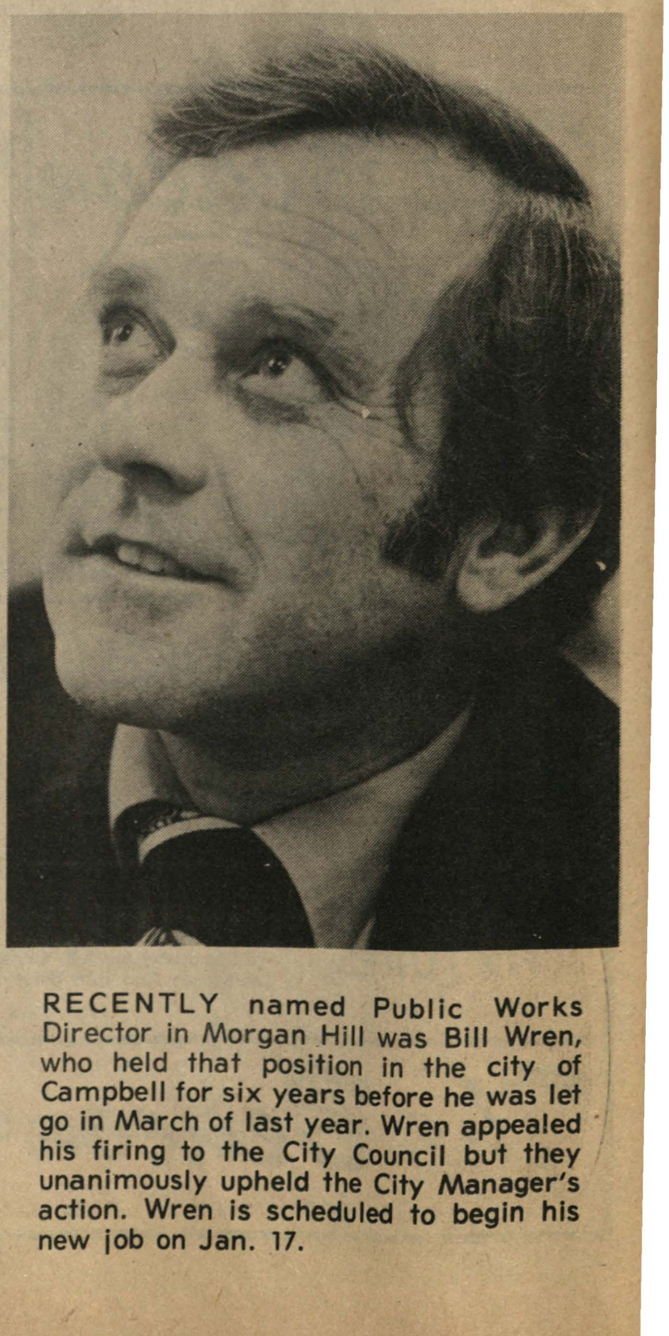
Last week John Burns, Director of the county Housing Authority, said his agency is still very interested in coming up with a development for that parcel. Mitch Sperling, a new special assistant, joined the county staff last Monday and Burns said one of his duties will be to put a development package together for the land.

The county agency favors a multi-use development which includes low cost housing, small shops and office space.

Tuesday night, Campbell Planning Commissioners had scheduled a hearing on possible pre-zoning of that downtown property. Presently zoned P-F (public facility), the possible future uses of that land will have to be decided before the property is sold.

The school board originally declared that land surplus several months ago and sought buyers from official jurisdictions and government agencies. Since none was forthcoming during the 60-day waiting period, the land can now go up for grabs.

The site contains about 10 acres presently, but part of it is scheduled to be taken for the north loop street. Under present plans, the old West Valley College bookstore and one wing of the main school building would have to be razed for the street.



RECENTLY named Public Works Director in Morgan Hill was Bill Wren, who held that position in the city of Campbell for six years before he was let go in March of last year. Wren appealed his firing to the City Council but they unanimously upheld the City Manager's action. Wren is scheduled to begin his new job on Jan. 17.

An Affäir to Remember with BEA RENÉ

© Bea Rene 1975

I love a restaurant decoarted in Olde English. I can satisfy this craving at the STEAK AND ALE Restaurant of Palo Alto. Stained glass, antiques, blazing fire, serving wenches in period costumes abound. The food is delicious and you have a wide choice of entrees on the menu such as steak, prime rib, lobster, crab and my favorite — red snapper. Dinners are from $5.95 up. This includes a very complete salad bar, or choice of soup, baked potato or rice pilaf, hot bread & butter. There is a special dinner offered for $6.95 in Jan. A steak and marinated chicken combination, choice of soup or salad (hearts of romaine or spinach), baked pot. or rice pilaf, vegetable, ½ carafe of wine for two and choice of dessert.

Last week Mary Lou Austin & Joyce & Warren Walrod stopped by the ECHO w/me to hear the young men who are now performing there — THE FIVE ECHOS. I knew that old pro's in the entertainment field like "Mary Lou & Warren" would recognize talent when they heard it, & they certainly did & complimented these 5 musicians headed by Greg Franks & John Felch. They play oldies but goodies & have great singing voices. The lounge was packed w/people from all over the area. Stop by.

Chef John Brandt continues to perform some culinary miracles at CLEMENTINE'S & New Year's was a very festive affair. Here's a novel idea: every Thurs. from 5-7 p.m. Chef Brandt prepares an 8 ft. sandwich piled high w/meats & cheeses & other delicacies which is served to imbibers in the lounge to enhance their cocktails. Of course there are other hors d'oeuvres & I understand the lounge is packed. Do stop by.

If you're an antique buff & enjoy treasured keepsakes, visit GRANNY'S ATTIC on Almaden Exp. These antiques grace the walls & ceiling & only enhance the fine dinners & libations served here. They serve a 2 for 1 drink in the lounge until 6:30 p.m. Sun.-Thurs. & 2 for 1 drinks all day in the dining rm. w/lunch or dinner. There's a spec. $4.95 dinner Sun.-Thurs. so if your pocketbook is a little deflated from Xmas spending, try GRANNY'S ATTIC soon.

The new menu at the 94TH AERO SQUADRON incls. Steak Rickenbacker (sauteed choice N.Y. steak w/julienne bell pepers, onions, & mushrooms) only $7.95, & a delicious Lemon Veal $9.25, & thier Prime Ribs of Beef Au Jus are excellent. They serve Sun. Brunch w/fr. fruits, homemade baked goods & champagne priced from $2.50-$5.25. You'll be dining in the nostalgia of the 94TH AERO SQUADRON headquarters in Toul, France, Circa 1917. Mike Love & Chad Jeffreys preside over the new Disco, Sun.-Sat.

School board elections

Filing deadline is Friday

WITH JUST A day and a half to go before the filing deadline most candidates for school board posts, including the incumbants, seem to be playing a waiting game.

According to a spokesman for the county registrar of voters office, there has been few nomination papers received for the 12 seats open in the Campbell-West San Jose area.

No one has filed yet in the Campbell elementary school district, although all three incumbants say they'll run for reelection.

In the Campbell high school district, with three seats up for election in March, incumbants Dorothy Goble and Steve Tedesco have filed.

IMCUMBANT DAMON Nalty and hopeful Henry Kirk Rogers II have filed for the three seats open in the Moreland school district. Rogers, 3188 Verdant way, San Jose, lists his occupation as an accountant.

In the Cambrian district, with three seats open, two incumbants and one new candidate have filed so far. Incumbants John Shehtanian, Jr. and Robert Coleman have submitted papers along with contender Arlene Dallas.

Official deadline for filing is Friday, Jan. 7 at 5 p.m. and county staffers say they expect to have between 200 and 300 applicants standing in line at the last minute.

Mandy's gone

A lab on the loose

Mandy is lost. The large black Labrador and Shepherd mix has been missing from her N. Carlyn home since New Year's Eve when she was slightly injured in an auto mishap.

According to her owner Norbert Wesolow, 98 N. Carlyn, the friendly pooch got out of the backyard Friday after a grandson accidentally left the gate open. Two dogs were fighting down the street and Mandy made a beeline for them, Wesolow says. She was struck and slightly injured by a passing car as she ran into the street.

"She wasn't badly hurt," he explained, "just frightened."

When last seen Mandy was heading towards Hedegard and the Wesolow family are hoping that some family has temporarily adopted her.

The missing dog is described as large (about 100 pounds), with a white blaze on her chest and wearing a license numbered 596992.

Anyone who's seen her should contact the family at 378-2443.

Avoid the 13

Holiday crackdown was a big success

The "Avoid the 13" campaign to cut down on traffic accidents was a big success in Campbell, according to Police Chief Don Burr. But not to 13 motorists during the holiday campaign to get drinking drivers off the streets.

That's the number of local arrests for drunk driving during the 17-day campaign, Burr said.

Locally, a total of 42 accidents were reported, eight with injuries and no fatalities.

"I was very, very satisfied with the program," Burr said, "and very pleased with the cooperation received from the community."

Special levies bring in $60,000

Campbell added over $60,000 to its coffers recently with the December allocation of state cigarette, motor vehicle and highway user taxes.

The city's share was; $24,066, highway users tax; $12,655, cigarette tax and $26,728 in vehicle license fees.

Walnut warning for dog owners

THE CALIFORNIA Veterinary Medical Association is again issuing a warning to pet owners, especially dog owners, to be particularly careful this year in walnut growing areas.

Moldy walnuts lying on the ground can poison your dog! In some cases this poison can be fatal.

While there is some question as to whether it is the mold or the walnut that contains the toxin, dog owners living in walnut growing areas should be aware of the danger. Cases of walnut poisoning are seen during the wet months of the year.

Symptoms consist of convulsions beginning 20-30 minutes following the ingestion of walnuts that have been on wet ground long enough to become moldy and partially decomposed. The neurotoxin contained in the moldy walnut is not of itself fatal, but the convulsions produced will eventually involve some organs of the dog which he cannot do without.

PROMPT veterinary attention is essential. Fortunately, most dogs that arrive at the hospital still alive, can be saved. Treatment consists of anesthesia, maintained for 24-48 hours, or long enough for the dog's own body to detoxify and eliminate the poison. Successful treatment produces complete recovery without aftereffects.

Classified ads are for the dogs!

Use the classified ads for doggie training, lost doggies, found doggies, doggie beauty salons, doggie population control information, selling doggies and buying doggies!

When your doggie needs a classified ad, just tell her to phone 255-7500. An advisor will assist her in placing a 9 Paper Classified Ad.

PROBLEMS IN THE CAMPBELL ELEMENTARY SCHOOL DISTRICT

* A MEANINGLESS PLEDGE—In 1974, the Campbell Elementary School Board promised a cost of living increase for the district's educators. 1974, 1975 and 1976 have come and gone and educators have received 0%.
* DISTRICT RANKS LOWEST—Of the 31 school districts in the county, 30 provide greater compensation to educators.
* BOARD REFUSES TO RESOLVE CONFLICT—The Campbell Board refuses to agree to binding arbitration; a technique based upon the decision of a neutral third party which would solve problems without strikes.
* HERE COMES THE JUDGE—The Campbell Elementary School Board refuses to include State and Federal laws in the educators' contract which forces educators to use the courts to solve problems—an expensive and time-consuming solution.
* NOTHING SPECIAL IN CAMPBELL—A child with a special educational problem/ability will find it difficult to receive the appropriate help. The Board has reduced or eliminated many special programs.
* NOW YOU SEE IT; NOW YOU DON'T—The Campbell School Board unilaterally reduced educators' fringe benefits, resulting in an unfair labor charge being filed against them.
* WHO'S NEXT?—Within the space of two months, seven top administrators resigned from the Campbell District.
* NEEDLESS EXPENSE—The Campbell District continues to expend thousands of dollars to buy outside services that could be provided from within the district and at no additional expense to the taxpayers.
* COOPERATION; NOT CONFLICT—A reasonable approach to the situation is needed. How would you solve these problems that we face? Your suggestions and assistance will be greatly appreciated.

Gazette of patents

Genius and folly recorded side by side

By JIM BARRETT

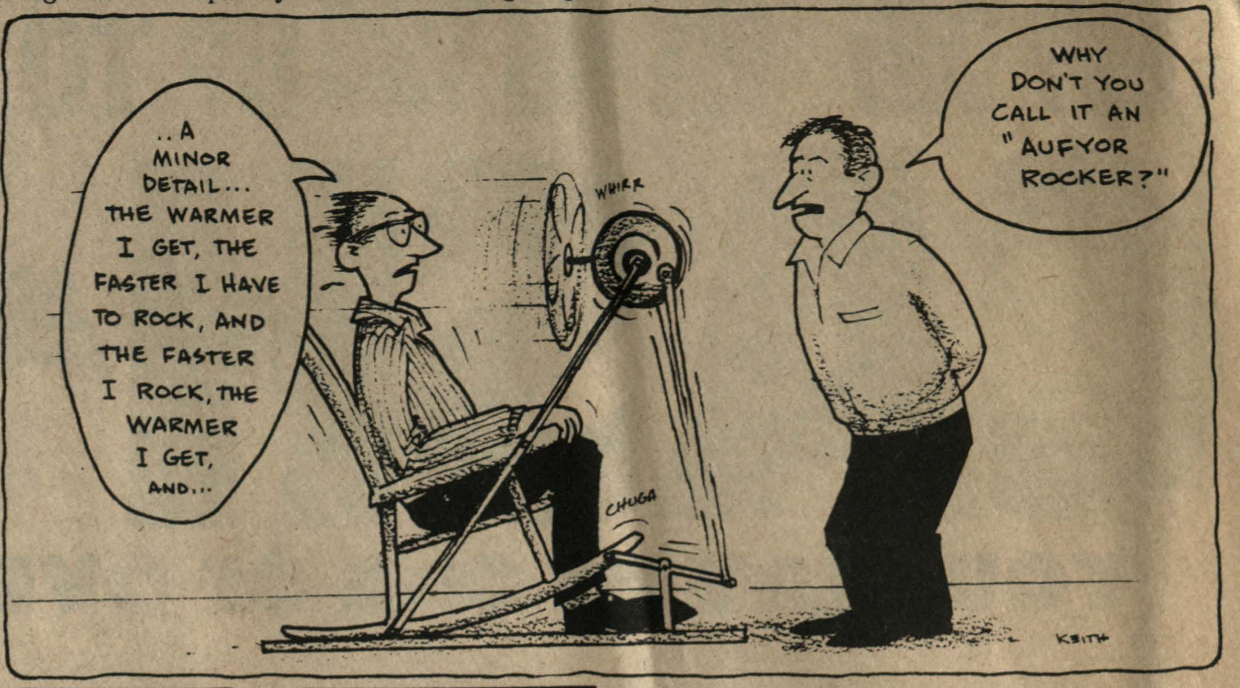
"NO, NO CARRUTHERS," fumed the beetle-browed eccentric. "It's not a motorized tie clasp. It's a bionic castanet, you fool."

For centuries, inventors have fiddled with wheels, levers and springs searching for task-easing contraptions. Some ideas worked (the cotton gin, the truss, sofa slip-covers), while many others bombed. Who remembers the pneumatic necktie?

The greats and na'ry greats are held on file at the Sunnyvale Patent Library, 665 W. Olive ave. Genius and folly are recorded together in some 900 volumes of the U. S. Official Gazette of Patents. Near the Sunnyvale tomes, it is said, inventor Nolan Bushnell conceived the world's first video game.

STUDYING THE thousands of patents, it is evident that genius must be weighed against unbridled craziness. Some inventions leave you wondering where the scale tips.

Take the shielded spoon, a breakthrough from the Forties. It was patented in 1942 by a poor soul who likely trudged to work squint-eyed and sour after getting a squirt from his breakfast grapefruit. It is evidenced that Yankee ingenuity does not retreat. Instead, it erects a metal screen around the spoon rather than advise the diner to stand back when he digs into his grapefruit.



..A MINOR DETAIL... THE WARMER I GET, THE FASTER I HAVE TO ROCK, AND THE FASTER I ROCK, THE WARMER I GET, AND...
WHIRR
WHY DON'T YOU CALL IT AN "AUFYOR ROCKER?"
KEITH

Whatever is wrong with life can be righted through mechanics, Yank inventors show time and again. Admire the work of a New York man named Joseph A. Smith. Joe obviously believed smoking pipes were cumbersome, so he patented a foldable model in 1946.

Impressed with Joe's pipe, patent authorities gave him the rights in 1952. Jointed at two points, the pipe need only be bent down like a jack knife and stowed in a pant pocket.

ONCE BACKWARD implements were corrected, inventors moved to make life easier and more pleasant. Philip Pietrobono, of East Hartford, Conn., was one of them. Pietrobono was the egghead who devised the motion-driven fan attachment for rocking chairs. His 1920 masterpiece must be in the Rube Goldberg Hall of Fame, if there is one.

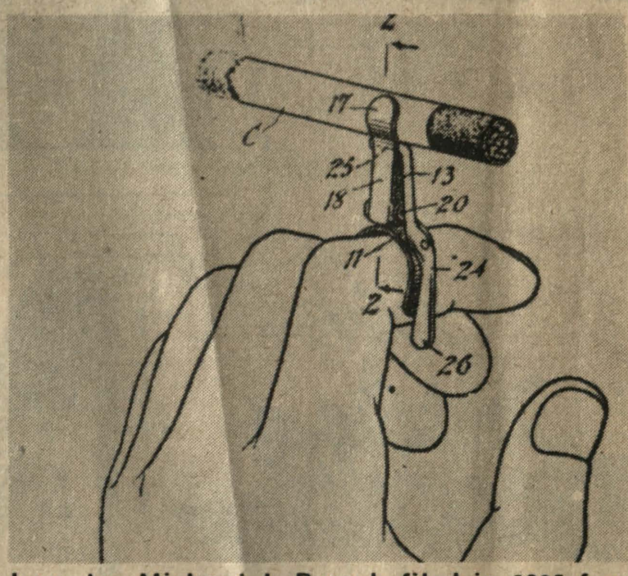
His fan-and-rocker plan was as complex as the order of succession to the Spanish throne:

The rocker platform pushed a stick that wiggled the upright that agitated a beveled gear that propelled a pinion meshed with a fan that spun faster as you rocked in the chair.

OUR EGGHEAD inventors fed economic progress in the U.S. Why, without vacuum tubes and conveyor belts, Uncle Sam would be living in the Appalachians barefoot and broke.

Louis Bubenic advanced the cause in 1942 with his "sanitary tail tie" for cattle. Louis lived in Emery, Wis., so he probably was a dairyman.

He ostensibly got angry with Bossy one day after years of getting a swat in the head at the morning milking. Louis made this breakthrough: a leather harness that secured a cow's tail to its hind shank. Not only was Louis happier, but our milk probably was cleaner.



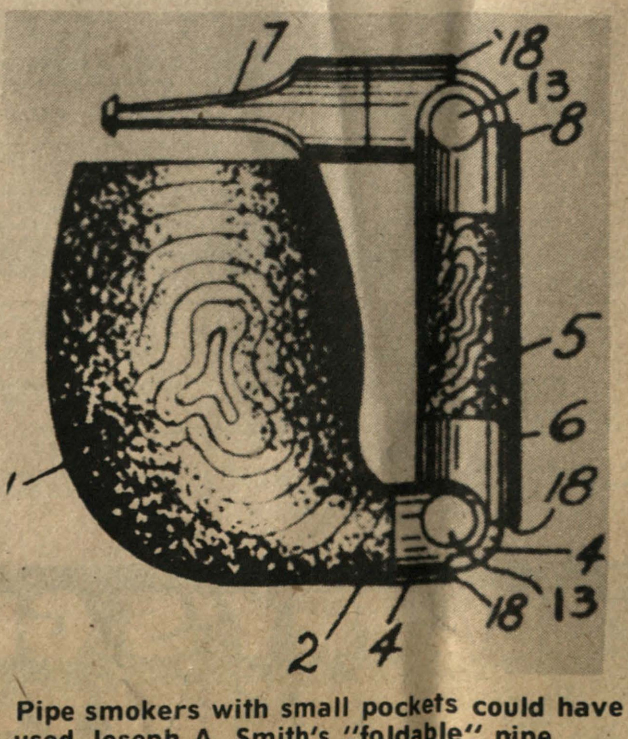
Inventor Michael J. Russak filed in 1925 for rights on a cigarette holder that clipped to your finger.

There are plenty of way-out listings in the Sunnyvale archives. The mechanical hand, the rotary toothbrush, piston pullers, sacroiliac supporters and the "anti-mouth breathing device."

DON'T ASK ME why Roy Basil Storms, of Indianapolis, Ind., thought breathing through the mouth was misfortunate. Anyway, he patented the device. It was a muzzle that fit firmly over the mouth when the shoulder harness was secured. Users must have discovered it worked fine until they came down with a head cold.

Only the Roaring Twenties could have sparked that 1929 vision of Samuel N. Stowell's. Sam, who lived in Yuba City, created the autosled.

Again, it was something so simple it was overlooked. Sam's idea was to fasten four pontoons under the fender wells of a car and, hence, it became a sled. He even proscribed spiral threating on the front pontoons so the autosled could steer away from rocks or trees.



Pipe smokers with small pockets could have used Joseph A. Smith's "foldable" pipe.

After four years, the jury is still out

Effective cancer preventative? Laetrile controversy still rages

By MARK FORSTER

FOUR YEARS ago the Laetrile controversy burst wide open when a Bay Area physician was arrested for dispensing the purported cancer preventative that is illegal in California.

At the arrest of Dr. John Richardson, four Peninsula residents formed the Committee for Freedom of Choice in Cancer Therapy, Inc. They wanted to support Richardson as well as try to make Laetrile, or vitamin B-17, an acceptable forn of cancer treatment.

Believing Laetrile is an important aspect in preventing cancer, they opposed the Food and Drug administration ban on Laetrile and specific California laws prohibiting its use, claiming this was unwarranted governmental intrusion on individuals. The committee was a political entity fighting the medical world. Richardson, who has not been convicted in three trials, and most of the original members belonged to the John Birch Society.

Aligned against the government and established medical world over cancer treatment, the Freedom of Choice movement has gone through four stormy years. It has been attacked by the American Cancer Society and American Medical Association as a "quack" movement. Its president, Robert Bradford, and vice president, Frank Salaman, are under indictment on charges of smuggling and conspiracy to smuggle Laetrile over the border from Mexico. Betty Newkirk, the committee's executive director, was named as an unindicted co-conspirator on the smuggling charges.

THE GROUP'S strong ties with the Birch Society have led to accusations it is a front for the right wing organization. Bradford, Salaman, and Newkirk are members of the Birch Society while Bradford estimates between 25 and 50 per cent of the committee's national membership also belong to the Birch Society.

But committee officials would rather boost Laetrile than worry about political or legal problems. Bradford claims that because Laetrile is such a broad issue it attracts a diversified political element and is not a Birch dominated movement. As for the smuggling charges, he says the state prosecutor "doesn't have a prayer in the world on getting us on the smuggling charges."

"On the conspiracy to smuggle, they are trying to create a case where they have nothing," he said. "What it has done is give the committee a million dollars worth of publicity."

Spreading the Laetrile philosophy is what the committee works hardest at.

NEWKIRK, Bradford, Salaman and his wife formed the original committee and have since become the nucleus of the national headquarters operating from five small, crowded rooms on the second floor of the Los Altos Masonic Temple. Committee officials claim there are 450 Freedom of Choice chapters nationwide with 28,000 members. The Los Altos headquarters publishes a monthly newsletter titled "The Choice." One of four full time employees, former newsman Michael Culbert, recently wrote the movement's official history and textbook, "Freedom from Cancer." The committee also sponsors about four symposiums around the country each year to introduce physicians to Laetrile and the philosophy behind its use. For $190 each, up to 30 doctors learn about the metabolic treatment which is built around Laetrile during 22 hours of instruction.

Laetrile is the extract from apricot kernels which contains high smounts of B-17. The vitamin is used as one part of a complete nutritional program that aims at preventing cancer through proper eating and a balanced metabolic system. Proponents stress that it is a complicated program which entails strict medical supervision and it is not a cure, but a prevention, of cancer.

BRADFORD CALLS IT a "wholistic approach." He says treatment includes Laetrile as well as "everything the medical profession has to offer" which also includes orthodox treatment with chemotherapy and radiation.

"As we learn more and more about metabolic program, chemotherapy becomes irrational," Bradford said. "Doctors can give a normal dosage of chemotherapy that would cause the hair to fall out and teeth to bleed. But by proper use of the metabolic program, we can eliminate side effects while still using chemotherapy."

But it is the credibility of Laetrile and what it allegedly accomplishes which churns controversy. Laetrile advocates rely heavily on personal testimonials, scattered research, and other countries' use of Laetrile as proof that it works.

Dr. Malcom Bagshaw, professor and chairman of the department of radiology at Stanford University, explained why personal testimonials are not acceptable proof.

"Personal testimonials presented by the Laetrile group are always so full of lack of objectivity and possible error," he said.

BAGSHAW SAID many people who use Laetrile do not know for a fact they have cancer because they did not receive a legitimate biopsy prognosis while others have "cancer phobia." He also said there are over 200 documented cases of legitimate, spontaneous regressions of cancer.

"Some of the more enterprising Laetrile doctors use chemotherapy and conventional therapy at the same time they give Laetrile. They might see a response and misinterpret it as due to Laetrile," he explained.

Bagshaw said several of his patients who completed radiation therapy that could have cured cancer, have then gone to Laetrile and credited that with being the cure.

The Stanford professor said Laetrile has not been widely studied because "there is not a shred of evidence to make it mildly interesting to investigators." While he feels the drug itself may not be harmful, faith in Laetrile has caused patients to abandon orthodox treatment in Bagshaw's experience. He says he knows cases of unnecessary death.

But Bradford feels Laetrile is already an accepted drug.

"Israel has been the latest nation to accept Laetrile and it is probably the most scientifically advanced state," he said.

BRADFORD ALSO CLAIMED the National Cancer Institute reported to Congress that "fully 50 per cent of all cancer may be due to diet" evidence he takes as support for the group's contention about Laetrile.

Laetrile supporters point to a study done by the prestigious Sloane-Kettering cancer center in New York which supposedly showed Laetrile's beneficial effects in tests on mice. The data was leaked against the institute's wishes and Laetrile advocates use that as a further example of a medical-governmental conspiracy preventing the acceptance of Laetrile to protect the established cancer industry in the United States.

But, on the other side of the controversy, Bagshaw explained it was a "premature release of data" from Sloane-Kettering on a study being done by an 80 year old Japanese researcher. Bagshaw said as the test progressed, there was no significant difference in development of breast cancer between two groups of mice, one of which received Laetrile while the other group was given a placebo.

"Data received by Southern Research Institute, a legitimate cancer institute, could find no evidence of Laetrile's efficacy," Bagshaw added.

FREEDOM OF CHOICE members strongly feel there is a conspiracy among elements of the American Cancer Society, doctors, and others involved with orthodox cancer treatment to prevent development of Laetrile because it would radically alter the economics of cancer.

Bradford said his smuggling trial offers "an opportunity to expose the FDA and California Health Department trying to prevent access to Laetrile."

Bradford, however, does not emphasize the conspiracy theory.

"Speculation on controls has nothing to do with freedom of choice or efficacy of metabolic control," he said.

He claimed that cancer was a "$15 to $20 billion dollar a year industry" and doctors would be willing to buy an expensive new machine before investigating Laetrile.

Newkirk gave different figures. She claimed cancer is "a $6 billion a year industry. The American Cancer Society's budget for this year is over $100 million."

"A very small portion of the American Cancer Society's millions of dollars could disprove what we say. They don't spend a penny on nutritional research," she said.

IN REPLY, Dr. Bagshaw refuted the idea of a conspiracy theory to prevent a cancer cure pointing to research done on cancer by the medical community.

"The argument about a conspiracy is really simply contrary to all objective evidence one can garner if he is prepared to go to any medical library," he said.

Bagshaw said cancer treatment is not a large part of a doctor's income and doctors "don't make money from patients dying."

"One of the best arguments against the conspiracy is the cancer society's public education program," he said.

Bagshaw claimed Laetrile is also a financially rewarding product.

"Almost $200 million is spent annually, illicitly in California on Laetrile. That money goes to a relatively small group of people," he said.

The Committee for Freedom of Choice in Cancer Therapy, in Los Altos is a nonprofit organization. Newkirk said its annual budget is $100,000.

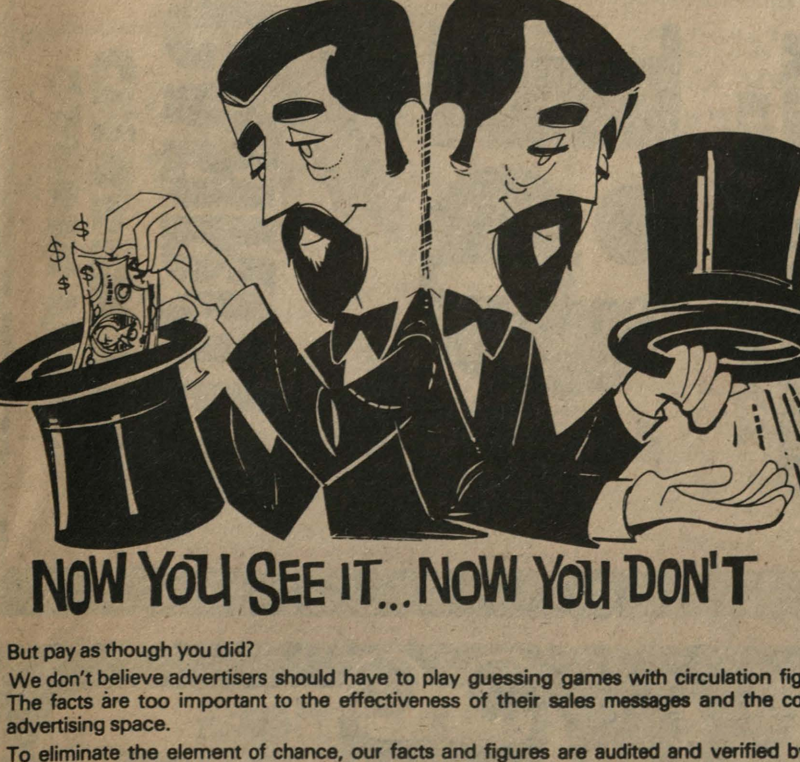
memo to advertisers



NOW YOU SEE IT...NOW YOU DON'T

But pay as though you did?

We don't believe advertisers should have to play guessing games with circulation figures. The facts are too important to the effectiveness of their sales messages and the cost of advertising space.

To eliminate the element of chance, our facts and figures are audited and verified by the Audit Bureau of Circulations. Through an audit report, ABC tells us and our advertisers exactly how much circulation we have, where it is distributed, what readers pay, and the answers to many questions about our circulation audience.

Don't guess—ask to see a copy of our latest audit report. Be ABC--sure!

Siren sounds

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Campbell police saw the new year in with a slight rise in reported incidents, but nothing too far out of the ordinary. Morgan Park bears a fresh scar, reported New Year's eve when a maintenance worker discovered vandals had knocked over another tree. Valued at $100, police believe the tree was possibly pushed over a car. A young man at a party threatened six girls who had stolen his beer; a motherly-looking gray haired old lady sideswiped a parked car and kept on going; and somone passed bogus $10 bills — made by pasting $10 corners on $1 bills — to several local merchants. So check your tens very carefully; if you spot one that looks a bit strange — with missing corners or with a picture of George Washington instead of Alexander Hamilton — call the local constabulary.

ARMED ROBBERY

When a local grocery clerk asked the armed robber for his AAA card back (he had just called a tow truck for his disabled car) he was told to start walking or get shot. Sunday night, police report, when the man got off work he found his vehicle inoperable, called for help, stood by his car waiting, and was threatened by the robber, brandishing a long barrelled hand gun who said: "Give me your wallet or your're dead!" The victim handed over the wallet, valued at $10, which contained no money, but did have his driver's license and auto club card enclosed. Witnesses report the man, described as in his mid-twenties, 5 feet, ten inches, 165 to 170 pounds, with light brown, collar-length hair and a moustache below the corners of his mouth, was seen getting into a car driven by another man with long dark hair and a bushy moustache.

BURGLARY

A local gasoline station lost $3,000 in a burglary early this week when thieves removed the top from one floor safe and carried another floor safe away with them, according to police.

When the manager and an attendant reported for work at 6 a.m. Monday, they found someone had broken into the "lube" room, and office.

PETTY (?) THEFT

Two-hundred and twenty gallons of scrap metal was stolen Monday by a determined thief who broke into Orla's Machine Shop and carted off four drums of metal shavings, according to police reports. Because of the weight of the containers, police believe a large truck may possibly have been used to remove the drums from the shop, located at 581 Division st. The scrap metal is valued at $200.

MALICIOUS MISCHIEF

A Sunnyvale man who treated himself to a Christmas present of four brand new tires for his red Toyota, discovered that vandals had punctured and ruined them while he was in church Sunday, police report. The scene of the incident was the church parking lot at 1870 S. Winchester. The tires were valued at $232.

Sales tax brings in $215,000

December sales and use taxes brought in over $200,000 to the city, the state Board of Equalization announced.

Total allocated to Campbell, out of the state's $110 million, was $215,143.

With the additional county sales tax, Santa Clara County received $1.2 million for the transit system.

This lunch bunch gets a lot done

The Sack Lunch Bunch at the First United Methodist Church of Campbell sounds like a social group that meets over a ham on rye. But this club, along with the Cancer Workshop group, has achieved an impressive list of accomplishments over the last year.

A few projects included: making 310 bibs and 12 bedpan covers for Westgate Convalescent Hospital; 63 lap robes, nine quilts, 46 stuffed dolls and button dolls, baby quilts and stuffed animals donated to Friends Outside; donations of 114 dozen gauze pads, shirts, cellulose pads to the Cancer Society; 75 dozen diapers to Friends Outside, plus donations of clothes, cookies and gifts to charitable groups and hospitals.

Anyone interested in working with the groups can call the church at 378-3472.

The lunch bunch meets from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month while the workshop meets on the fourth Thursday, also from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

a fan at heart

by Dave Mendonca

DESPITE THE fact they have the best record in the National Football League, and despite the fact Jimmy the Greek has made them four point favorites, look for the Oakland Raiders to wind up on the short end of Sunday's Super Bowl clash with the Minnesota Vikings in Pasadena.

If for no other reason, the Vikings should win Sunday's battle because of the law of averages. After all, Minnesota has yet to win a Super Bowl in three prior appearances (losing to Kansas City in 1969, Miami in 1973 and Pittsburgh in 1974).

But the real reason Minnesota should beat the Raiders is super back Chuck Foreman.

Oakland has a history of having trouble against teams with good running games or great running backs.

That's why the Raiders have always had so much trouble with the Pittsburgh Steelers, who would have given Oakland a much better game in the American Conference championship struggle had Franco Harris and Rocky Bleier been able to play.

OAKLAND'S only loss on the year came at the hands of the New England Patriots, who crushed them with the aid of a tremendous land attack. Remember, it was New England that nearly eliminated the Raiders from Super Bowl contention in the opening round of the AFC play-offs.

Chicago's Walter Payton gave the Raiders fits when Oakland visited the Bears and came away with a narrow one point win when a last second Chicago field goal attempt hit the crossbar.

Foreman should be the difference in Sunday's encounter, since the Raiders and Vikes match-up pretty evenly at every position except running back.

Kenny Stabler is a more accurate passer than Minnesota's Fran Tarkenton. But Tarkenton is more mobile and can cause all sorts of problems for the Raider defense.

Both clubs have outstanding receivers. Oakland's trio of Fred Biletnikoff, Cliff Branch and Dave Casper rate a little better than Minnesota's Ahmad Rashad, Sammy White and Stu Voight, but not much.

Both teams also have fine offensive lines that open holes for runners and provide fine pass protection for their quarterbacks.

DEFENSIVELY, the Raiders and Vikings are almost identical. Both teams have strong, vicious linemen, excellent linebackers and better than average secondaries.

The difference in the game, then, should boil down to the running backs. Oakland's Mark van Eeghen is a fine runner, as his 1,000-plus yards will attest. But he is not a break away threat.

Clarence Davis can have good days, but he also drops passes and fumbles a lot.

Minnesota, admittedly, only has one good runner in Foreman. But Foreman should be plenty. He can get the tough yardage or break a long gainer, as he did against Los Angeles in the National Conference title showdown. In addition to his running, Foreman is also a superb receiver coming out of the backfield.

His running mate should be Brent McClanahan, who, like Davis, can have good days but for the most part is a journeyman runner.

Sunday's game should be high scoring and hopefully exciting. But Raider fans may be disappointed when the contest ends.

Dons nab crown at tourney Sunnyvale

Leigh claims consolation

STOP MARK McNAMARA and you stop the Del Mar Dons, was the general consensus of opposing coaches heading into the 19th annual Sunnyvale Holiday Basketball Tournament at Sunnyvale high school.

But the Dons spoiled that theory by romping to the tournament title with an easy 59-44 conquest of Awalt in the finals despite the fact McNamara was held to a season-low 10 points.

While Big Mac, the Dons' 6'10" center, was being held some 14 points below his scoring average, Scott Cleland and Sean Nalty took up the scoring slack, spurring the Dons to their 11th win in as many outings this season.

The Leigh Longhorns, meanwhile, captured the consolation championship trophy by nipping Lynbrook 53-52 in a thriller.

The Dons, who had captured the Sunnyvale Tournament championship last year, landed McNamara, Nalty and Cleland on the 10-man all-tournament team.

Joining the Del Mar trio were Leigh's John Russo, John Smith of Wilson (San Francisco), Dan Forsman of Awalt, Todd Sedlacek of San Carlos, Terry Clark of Menlo-Atherton, John Clark of Lynbrook and Jim Greeley of Cupertino.

AFTER JUMPING out to a 14-9 first quarter lead, the Dons hit a cold spell in the second period and entered the second half trailing by three points, 23-20.

Del Mar came back strong in the third stanza, however, and blitzed Awalt 16-5. The Dons didn't let up in the final quarter, outscoring the Spartans 23-16.

Cleland captured high game honors, pumping in a career high 20 points. Nalty meshed 14 points while both McNamara and Tom McClintic added 10. Eric Oksen was the only other Don able to break into the scoring column, netting five points.

Del Mar opened the tournament by crushing Mills 88-50 in a game that saw 11 different Dons break into the scoring column.

McNamara led the rout, pumping in 25 points in just three quarters of play. Cleland canned 13 points and Nalty dumped in 12.

McClintic and Gary Sammonds both chipped in with eight while Jim Quilici added seven.

The next night the Dons ran into a tough Wilson of San Francisco squad and came away with a 79-70 triumph.

McNamara poured in a season high 33 points to spark the win, earning words of praise from his coach Dave Morgan.

Oksen tossed in 15 markers, Nalty canned 12 and McClintic meshed 10. Cleland tallied nine.

IN THE SEMI-FINALS, Del Mar thumped San Carlos 74-54, thanks largely to a 31 point performance by McNamara.

McNamara, who tallied 99 points in the four-day tournament, was averaging 24.9 points a game after 11 contests, third best in the Central Coast Section.

Nalty bombed in 16 markers and McClintic tallied 10. Oksen added nine points and Cleland hit for six.

Leigh matched Lynbrook bucket for bucket in the final period of their consolation championship match-up to maintain the one point lead they held at the end of three quarters and come away with a thrilling victory.

Russo sparked the Longhorn cause with a 26 point performance. The Leigh sharpshooter raised his season average to 21.3 with his effort, eighth best in CCS.

John Shephardson dumped in nine points and Dave Hatzell chipped in with eight for the winners.

Leigh opened the tourney with a narrow 46-45 loss at the hands of the Awalt Spartans when a fourth quarter rally fell just short.

Russo grabbed high game honors with a 17 point effort. Shephardson and Hatzell both canned nine points.

THE LONGHORNS bounced back to hand West Valley Athletic League rival Camden a 56-51 defeat.

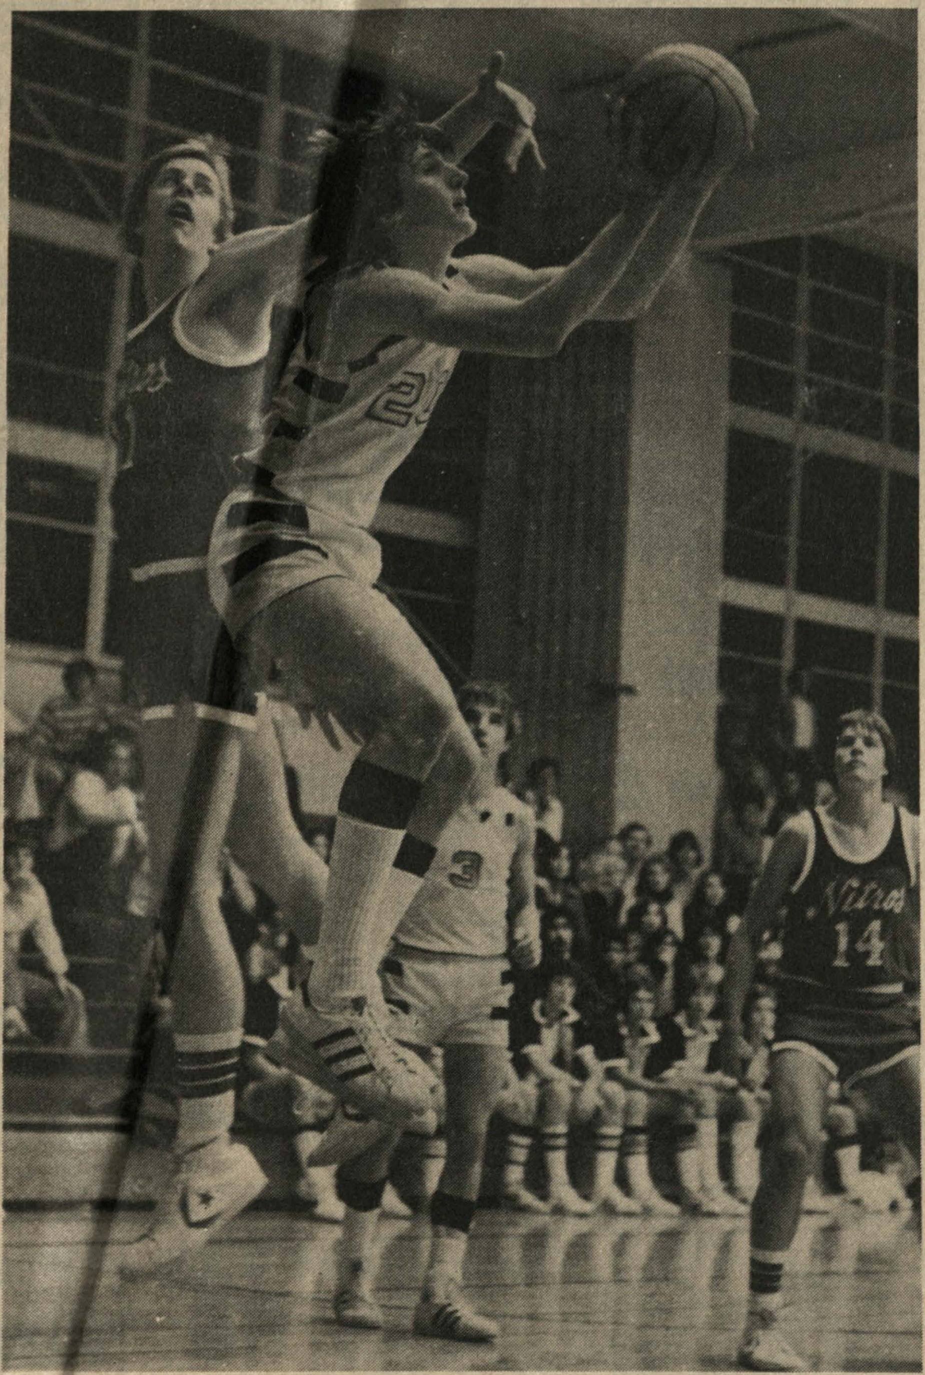
Leigh entered the final period trailing the Cougars 43-36. But the Longhorns outscored Camden 20-8 in the final eight minutes to win going away.

Russo again led the Longhorn attack with 14 points. Hatzell contributed 13 points, Brian Bonvecchio canned 11 and Shephardson tallied 10.

The Longhorns earned a shot at the consolation crown the next night when they crushed host Sunnyvale 60-45 behind Russo's 23 point splurge.

Shephardson hooped 10 markers and Hatzell meshed eight.

REBOUND HUNTING—Del Mar's 6'10" center Mark McNamara goes hunting for a rebound on a shot by guard Tom McClintic in the Dons' recent victory over Glendale. The Dons captured their second straight Sunnyvale Tournament championship recently.



IN CONTROL—Del Mar forward Scott Cleland comes down in control of a rebound in the Dons' recent victory over Glendale. Cleland, Mark McNamara and Sean Nalty were all picked to the all-tournament team recently at the Sunnyvale Invitational.

A meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the Employee's Lounge at Campbell City Hall on Monday, Jan. 10, 1977, for all interested persons.

Gun, archery safety courses

IF CHRISTMAS has brought a new gun or archery equipment into your home, prepare now to train the owner — adult or youngster — to handle it safely.

The Department of Fish and Game says the best way to get the training is through the standard hunter safety training course.

Firearms and bow and arrow safety, the DFG says, is not just for the hunter but for all shooters, although hunters pay the bills for the training.

The training also qualifies succesful students — adults and children — for the purchase of their first California hunting license.

Information on classes in your area is available from offices of the DFG and license agents.

California's hunter safety training program, second in the nation and the first to require training for adults, was inaugurated in 1954.

Directed by the DFG and staffed by highly qualified volunteer instructors, it has trained well over 800,000 persons in safe hunting practices, sportsmanship and the principles of conservation.

No time for Sag to rest on laurels

Jan. 8 through Jan. 14

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Thrill of the chase highlighted. If you don't get your way, Ari, then redouble your efforts. It's just not in your nature to take "no" for an answer. Week ends on key of B, for bank, bandy and balderdash.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Relationship with dear one needs special attention. Love, my dear Taurus, does not dominate; it cultivates. You will comprehend. Week ends on key of D, for dream, dial and ding-a-ling.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): In every romantic relationship, Gem, there is always one who is the lover and one who is the lovee. Roles apt to switch this week. Consider it a "learning experience." Week trundles to an interesting finale.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Messages highlighted. Progress can be made concerning relationship with daily associate IF you stand firm by the ramparts. Don't be discouraged by one who sends out negative signals. Tell this twerp to go play with a rusty razor blade.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): This is definitely not the week to indulge yourself in little spells of sulkiness. You know very well, Leo, that you already have the best of several worlds. So, no grousing — is that clear? Week sloshes to a curious close.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): clear deck of aggravations. Old depts (emotional as well as financial) must be paid. You get wind of nteresting bit of news. Be discreet. If necessary, Virgo, tape your mouth shut. Week ends on key of D, for diplcmacy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Beware of sociable scoundrel (is there any other kind?) first part of the week. It's true, you're terribly clever, Libra, but flim-flam artist is an absolute master. Week could end on key of B, for bamboozle.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Associate who reads in public seldom reads in private. This is one way to avoid involvement. Before week is over, pull on your snuggies, Scorp, and go visit Capricorn chum. Make pipe dreams come true.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You have to pull your share of load this week, Saj. Resting on your laurels (attractive as they may be) simply will not do. One in position of authority has the bead on you, kid, so you'd better get off of your tush and start moving. Like NOW.

CAPRICORN (Dec. .2-Jan. 19): Guard health this week, Cap, by avoiding fatigue. Get plenty of sack time. Should you find your timbers shivering, lock yourself in the bathroom, leap into a hot tub and just soak. Tensions along with daily grime go down the old drain. Week slithers to a close.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Slow down, Aquari. Don't permit urgency to dominate all of your actions. Before 1977 gets any older, try to understand that life is a trip to be enjoyed . . . not a race to be run.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You, Pisces, have a big heart and a mouth to match. You make headway with personal plans if you'll just stop blathering. To keep your reputation intact, stay out of honky-tonks and tattoo parlors. Week ends with a holler.
